To Our Friends and Supporters

We are pleased to share the Willa Cather Foundation’s 2017 annual report. Thanks to your incredible generosity, the Willa Cather Foundation served a record-setting 13,000 visitors and patrons on site last year—touring the new National Willa Cather Center or attending programs at our Red Cloud Opera House. As impressively, more than 41,000 users accessed the educational resources and publications found on our website.

Almost a decade ago, we dreamt about renovating a long-forgotten historic building in downtown Red Cloud to create a living memorial to Willa Cather. With your assistance, this dream became a reality when we dedicated and opened the National Willa Cather Center with nearly 300 people gathered in our restored Red Cloud Opera House. We were honored and humbled to play host to Mrs. Laura Bush for the dedication. There’s no doubt those in attendance will long remember the moving remarks she made about the value and importance of Cather’s literature to the study and understanding of our nation’s history and culture.

With the addition of an archive and expanded museum space, we also had the good fortune to welcome dozens of meaningful donations to our collections. Letters written by Cather, her personal possessions, photographs, and gifts given by Cather to friends and family continue to turn up and find a permanent home at our National Willa Cather Center. We sincerely thank the owners and caretakers of these collections for having the foresight to ensure they are preserved and displayed for generations to come.

Cather’s work appeals to readers from across the country and around the world. We were gratified to welcome visitors from 46 states and three countries outside the United States who made literary pilgrimages to our headquarters in Red Cloud, Nebraska. For those who have yet to visit, please consider this an open invitation to experience the largest collection of nationally designated historic sites dedicated to an American author.

Your support also enabled us to host and organize Cather programs and seminars outside of Nebraska. Our 16th International Cather Seminar was held on the campus of Duquesne University. The event called attention to the 10 years Cather lived and worked in Pittsburgh and brought together more than one hundred Cather scholars and enthusiasts to explore the influences of the Steel City on Cather’s life and career. Seminars like this one continue to advance Cather scholarship and serve as a catalyst for publication projects and research.

In closing, thank you for giving us the distinct privilege of continuing this meaningful work. Whether as supporters, as patrons, or as stakeholders—we’re grateful for your continued interest and investments.

Gratefully,

Marion Arneson  Ashley Olson
Board President  Executive Director
American Bittersweet has become a central component of the National Willa Cather Center, attracting new visitors, showcasing meaningful museum objects, and greatly expanding educational opportunities for guests. Direct interaction with Cather’s books gives exhibit visitors the opportunity to respond to Cather’s words, through sketching, asking questions, or even challenging Cather’s thinking—all in the margins of her books. Dozens of annotations have been recorded to this point, and visitors are also responding to Cather in more personal ways—thanking her for inspiration, underlining their favorite passages, and even using the books as a log of their visits.

Before the Willa Cather Foundation acquired the Moon Block building, years of neglect had led to significant deterioration and much of the building was uninhabitable. Restoration and adaptive reuse of the Moon Block to become the National Willa Cather Center resulted in an award-winning arts and cultural center dedicated to the preservation and promotion of Willa Cather’s legacy. Since the dedication, the renovated building has had a transformative effect on the vibrancy and appearance of downtown Red Cloud through a community development strategy rooted in arts, tourism, and creative placemaking.

“Through Willa Cather’s writing, we have a better understanding of one of the most remarkable and compelling periods in American History. The sites and collections that make up the National Willa Cather Center in Red Cloud, Nebraska are cultural treasures, and I am grateful for the community that supports the preservation of these historic landmarks.”

— Mrs. Laura Bush

Former teacher, librarian, and First Lady of the United States

Memorable Moments and Cather-Inspired Programs

“\textit{I spent a week photographing Red Cloud as an artist in residence at the Willa Cather Foundation. Being able to discover this magic town in such a unique way was an unbelievable experience. I was able to literally follow in Willa Cather’s footsteps as I photographed. This beautiful little town has cast quite a spell on me and as an artist I think it is an essential stop for other creative people.}”

\textit{— Shane Booth}

Artist & Professor at Fayetteville State University

Director Yugo Ikach led the Washington Symphony Orchestra of Washington, Pennsylvania, in a performance at Carnegie Music Hall that provided a vivid glimpse into Cather’s musical world in Pittsburgh. Those in attendance heard a symphonic concert much like those Cather attended in this very hall, including some of the music that she reviewed. The memorable event was made possible as part of the 16th International Cather Seminar, codirected by Dr. Timothy Bintrim and Dr. James Jaap, and through the leadership of Brett and Dr. Kim Vanderlaan, with support from the California University of Pennsylvania, Duquesne University, Penn State Greater Allegheny, and St. Francis University.

Six gifted performers presented the Red Cloud Cannonball—a lively evening of song and legend, highlighting the ways the railroad became a fundamental part of the culture of the American West. Cather excerpts threaded through the program included beautiful selections from \textit{The Song of the Lark}, \textit{My Ántonia}, \textit{Lucy Gayheart} and two rarely encountered but exquisite poems. “The Catherville Players,” seen in the cast photo above, were (standing from left) D. Kevin Williams, Joe Mendick, musical director Mark Kurtz, Bethany Eckloff, Jill Anderson, and (seated in foreground) Jesse Wohlman.

Alex Ross, music critic for \textit{The New Yorker} and a repeat visitor to Red Cloud, wrote an illuminating piece on Cather that appeared in the October 2, 2017, print edition under the title “Cather People.” Within this piece, readers discovered the ways Nebraska’s landscape inspired the great American novelist and how her later works like \textit{Death Comes for the Archbishop} stand apart.
Rich Traditions: Uniting Cather Students and Fans

“I was humbled and honored when I learned I was chosen to receive the 2017 Antonette Willa Skupa Turner Scholarship. As a scholarship recipient, I was invited to the 62nd annual Willa Cather Spring Conference to present my essay and received such a warm welcome by everyone there. Attending the conference at the Red Cloud Opera House was an experience I will never forget.”

— Patrick O’Neil
History major at the University of Nebraska–Lincoln

Our Willa Cather Memorial Prairie boasts an ever-changing tapestry of native grasses, flowers, and forbs. The wildflower season stretches from April through October, offering visitors like these glimpses of primroses, asters, native thistles, prairie coneflower, dalea, ironweed, and many others that grace the edges of our visitor trails.

Scholarship recipient Addison Schneider responds to a question following delivery of her Cather essay at the 62nd annual Willa Cather Spring Conference. Our scholarship programs have awarded nearly $170,000 to more than 60 students in the last 30 years.

Road Scholar participants gather following a luncheon at the George Cather House hosted by Lynette Krieger, Past President of the Willa Cather Foundation. A tour of the George Cather House—the residence of Willa Cather’s uncle George and aunt Frances Cather and their children, including G. P. Cather, prototype for Claude Wheeler in One of Ours—was part of the “country tour” experience in greater Webster County that made up a half day of our week-long immersive learning program titled “Red Cloud: Willa Cather’s Window to the World.”

In 2017, members of the Cather family generously donated a number of personal objects that had remained in the family—photographs, books, gifts given by Cather to family members. Among those items was a delicate lace folding fan, with tiny sequins and elaborate carving on the monture. There are many similarities between this fan and the one visible in Cather’s university graduation photo. We may never know definitively that the two fans are one and the same, but we do know that the fan was kept safe and cherished as one of Willa Cather’s special possessions.

Board composition as of October 2018
The State of Nebraska owns six Cather-related properties and a number of inventoried artifacts and documents held in Red Cloud. The properties are collectively referred to as the Willa Cather State Historic Site and are jointly preserved and maintained by History Nebraska (formerly the Nebraska State Historical Society) and the Willa Cather Foundation. The Cather Foundation acquired the sites in its earlier years and continues to manage them and care for them alongside its own historic properties.
